

Proposed Electricians (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a bill to provide for the protection of title and registration of electricians. The consultation runs from 19 August to 10 November 2020. All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document. Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer. All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response. Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded. Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here: Consultation Document Privacy Notice

I confirm that I have read and understood the Privacy Notice attached to this consultation which explains how my personal data will be used

Aim and approach

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response.

As a registered electrical contractor with the NICEIC I get yearly inspections to verify my work, qualifications etc. You will always get a rogue trader no matter what kind of register you get, as customer is usually price driven. The way to stop rogue traders or even general public doing there own electrical work (which has been the worst cases that I have seen in my 38 years in the trade) would be to stop electrical wholesalers, B&Q, screwfix etc from selling any electrical goods (ie cable sockets lights etc) to none registered electricians.

Q2. What do you think would be the main practical advantages of the proposed Bill?

None

Q3. What do you think would be the main practical disadvantages of the proposed Bill?

Still not stopping the rogue trader getting there hands on electrical material to carry on the work

Q4. Which of the following best expresses your view of the establishment of a single register for electricians?

Fully opposed

Please give any views or comments on a single register and how it might be set up
see previous comments

Q5. Which of the following best expresses your view of establishing protection of title for electricians?

Neutral (neither support nor oppose)

Please give any views or comments either on the principle or practical operation of protection of title:

You already have the likes of NICEIC and SELECT

Financial Implications

Q6. Taking account of both costs and potential savings, what financial impact would you expect the proposed Bill to have on:

	Significant increase in cost	Some increase in cost	Broadly cost-neutral	Some reduction in cost	Significant reduction in cost	Unsure
(a) Government and the public sector						X
(b) Businesses		X
(c) Individuals		X

Please explain the reasons for your response

As I already pay to register with the NICEIC I presume that there would be a charge to go the register that you propose

Q7. Are there ways in which the Bill could achieve its aim more cost-effectively (e.g. by reducing costs or increasing savings)?

Stop general sale of electrical goods

Equalities

Q8. What overall impact is the proposed Bill likely to have on equality, taking account of the following protected characteristics (under the Equality Act 2010): age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation?

Neutral (neither positive nor negative)

Q9. In what ways could any negative impact of the Bill on equality be minimised or avoided?

still just a person getting registered

Sustainability

Q10. Do you consider that the proposed Bill can be delivered sustainably, i.e. without having likely future disproportionate economic, social and/or environmental impacts?

No

Please explain the reasons for your response.

ther is always a cost

General

Q11. Do you have any other comments or suggestions on the proposal?

not required. see previous comments
